

Atascadero Formation Sedimentary Sandstone

Late Cretaceous, 66 -100 million years old

An example of spheroidal weathering. Weak areas of rock is fractured by stress underground in physical weathering. Underground water chemically weathers the fractures. Once exposed, the weathered rock along the fractures is washed away.

Photo by Ed Epperheimer

